MONTHLY COMMENTARY OF TARGET FUND

Performance Review

- US Treasury (“UST”) market experienced a volatile month and 10-year UST rate ended the month 5bps lower at 4.20%. Choppiness in UST was attributed to higher than expected US producer prices, US core CPI and better employment numbers.
- Meanwhile Fed committee kept interest rate unchanged as expected and delivered an overall dovish tone; with median dot plot still projecting 3 cuts in 2024.
- On the other hand, Bank of Japan hiked rates (as anticipated) but gave a dovish near-term guidance, while European Central Bank reinforced guidance for potential mid-year ease.
- Asian US$ credit bond market performed better in March with continued credit spread compression amidst increase in UST. During the month, the JP Morgan Asia Credit Index (JACI) returned 1.06% from both price increase and coupon carry.
- Broad Asia FX saw mounting pressure amidst relentless USD strength (due to economic data resiliency); Asia Dollar Index returned -0.58% in March (on YTD basis, index returned -2.28%).
- The fund posted returns of 0.51% in March; with bonds contributing 0.69% while FX and hedges was -0.17%.

Outlook and Strategy

- Market is seeing a tug-of-war between heading a “soft landing” narrative as opposed to a “no landing” scenario or inflation resurgence/ still resilient US labour market.
- That said, several Fed officials have expressed views of eventual rate cuts but with continued messaging of patience in delivering those cuts.
- With Asia US$ IG spread tightening to almost 130 bps (vs 148 bps as of end Dec 2023); we turned more constructive on selective HY credit, in particular those with strong funding channel avenue and improving credit standing such as certain Japanese corporates, Indian HY renewables, Indonesia corporates. These HY instruments are able to offer 6-8% yield to maturity and are expected to provide alpha to the overall fund.
- Additionally, we have gained exposure in selected AT1 instruments from Asian and Australian banks, which are able to provide yield of greater than 6%. Risk-to-reward is balanced given lower non-call risk and favourable technicals compared to their European peers.
- Asian currencies, especially low yielders are expected to come under continued pressure for the time being as the higher-for longer narrative take centre stage. We are neutral MYR, KRW and PHP while underweight CNH.
- Current portfolio yield stood at 6.23%, with an average portfolio credit rating of BBB+. Meanwhile, average portfolio duration for March was at 4.35 years.

The yield of the distributions are calculated based on the total dividend payout/ex-distribution NAV.

Based on the fund’s portfolio returns as at 31 March 2024, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this fund is 5.45 and is classified as “Low”. (Source: Lipper). “Low” includes funds with VF that are above 3.785 and less than or equal to 8.39 (source: Lipper). The VF means there is a possibility for the fund in generating an upside return or downside return around this VF. The Volatility Class (VC) is assigned by Lipper based on quintile ranks of VF for qualified funds. VF is subject to monthly revision and VC will be revised every six months. The fund’s portfolio may have changed since this date and there is no guarantee that the fund will continue to have the same VF or VC in the future. Presently, only funds launched in the market for at least 36 months will display the VF and its VC.
