6. Key Risks

Specific Risks

a) Interest Rate Risk

Interest rate risk refers to the impact of interest rate changes on the valuation of fixed income securities. When interest rates rise, fixed income securities prices generally decline and this may lower the market value of the Fund’s investment in fixed income securities. The reverse may apply when interest rates fall. In order to mitigate interest rate risk, the Manager will need to manage the fixed income securities taking into account the coupon rate and time to maturity of the fixed income securities.

b) Credit and Default risk

Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the issuers of the fixed income securities and their expected ability to make timely payment of interest and/or principal. Any adverse situations faced by the issuer may impact the value as well as liquidity of the fixed income securities. In the case of rated fixed income securities, this may lead to a credit downgrade. Default risk relates to the risk that an issuer of a fixed income security either defaulting on payments or failing to make payments in a timely manner which will in turn adversely affect the value of the fixed income securities. This could adversely affect the value of the Fund.

c) Country Risk

Investments of the Fund in any countries may be affected by changes in the economic and political climate, restriction on currency repatriation or other developments in the law or regulations of the countries in which the Fund invests in. For example, the deteriorating economic condition of such countries may adversely affect the value of the investments undertaken by the Fund in those affected countries. This in turn may cause the net asset value of the Fund or prices of units to fall.

d) Currency Risk

As the investments of the Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the base currency, any fluctuation in the exchange rate between the base currency and the currencies in which the investments are denominated may have an impact on the value of these investments. Investors should be aware that if the currencies in which the investments are denominated depreciate against the base currency, this will have an adverse effect on the NAV of the Fund in the base currency and vice versa. Investors should note that any gains or losses arising from the fluctuation in the exchange rate may further increase or decrease the returns of the investment.

e) Emerging Markets Risk

The Fund may invest in emerging markets which exhibit lower levels of capital market development when compared to those of developed markets. Given the fast changing investment landscape of emerging markets, areas such as accounting standards, legal and business environment in emerging markets may be less organised when compared to developed markets, increasing the risks of investing in emerging markets. Generally, investment returns in emerging markets are expected to be more volatile than those in developed markets, resulting in potentially higher investment risk that may affect the Fund’s returns. In addition to conducting investment research, such emerging markets risks may be mitigated by diversifying the Fund’s exposures across various markets and geographic regions.

f) Concentration Risk

Investors should be aware of the Fund’s possible concentration in exposure to a particular sector when investing in this Fund. The Fund will focus a greater portion of its assets in fixed income securities issued by financial institutions, exposing it to concentration risk in the sector of financial institutions. Given that, the Fund’s value and/or performance may be heavily dependent on the performance of the financial institutions sector.

g) Counterparty Risk

Counterparty risk refers to a risk that relates to the credit standing of counterparties when over-the-counter transactions are carried out and is not applicable to transactions performed through exchanges. In the event where counterparties of a contract fail to meet its contractual obligations, the Fund will suffer from financial losses. The Fund seeks to mitigate this risk through careful selection of counterparties including but not limited to the assessment of the credit strength of the counterparties.

h) Hedging Risk

The Manager will use derivatives to hedge the Fund’s portfolio from certain anticipated losses such as those resulting from unfavourable exchange rate and interest rate movements. However, every hedge comes with a cost. In a move to mitigate the risk of uncertainty; the Fund is now exposed to the risk of opportunity loss. Once hedged, the Fund cannot take full advantage of favourable exchange rate and interest rate movements. If the exposure which the Fund is hedging against makes money, the act of hedging would have typically reduced the potential returns of the Fund. On the other hand, if the exposure which the Fund is hedging against losses money, the act of hedging would have reduced the loss, if successfully hedged.

Investors are reminded that the above list of risks may not be exhaustive and if necessary, they should consult their adviser(s), e.g. their bankers, lawyers, stockbrokers or independent professional advisers for a better understanding of the risks.

For more details, please refer to item 4.1 in the master information memorandum for the general risks of investing in the Fund.

Note: If your investments are made through an institutional unit trust adviser (“Distributor”) which adopts the nominee system of ownership, you would not be deemed to be a unit holder under the deed and as a result, your rights as an investor may be limited. Accordingly, we will only recognise the Distributor as a unit holder of the Fund and the Distributor shall be entitled to all the rights conferred to it under the deed.

7. Valuation of Investment

The Fund must be valued at least once every Business Day*. The valuation of the Fund will be carried out in a fair and accurate manner. The Fund will be valued at 5.30 p.m. on the next Business Day.

However, certain foreign markets in which the Fund may invest in have different time zones from that of Malaysia. Accordingly, the valuation of the Fund will be conducted by 5.30 p.m. on the next Business Day, when the closing prices of the foreign markets would be available. As such, the daily price of the Fund for a particular Business Day will be published two (2) Business Days later.
